Every Household Needs a Family Disaster Plan

Historically, September is the month that we start seeing more active weather. Now is time to review your family plan and ready your household for any potential emergency.

Every household needs; a Family Disaster Plan...

Disaster can strike quickly with or without warning. It can force you to evacuate your neighborhood or confine you to your home. What would you do if basic services-water, gas, electricity or telephones were cut off? Local officials and relief workers will be on the scene after a disaster, but they cannot reach everyone right away. It could be days, even weeks before services are restored. These are the times when you need a Family Disaster Plan.

Families can and do cope with a disaster by preparing in advance and working together as a team. Knowing what to do is your best protection and your responsibility. Follow these basic steps published by the National Terror Alert Response Center to develop or refresh your household plan.
